PIRATE

Developing outstanding academic leaders and athletic competitors who participated and excelled in all levels of competition, helped establish a unique style among the students at WHS. It is a style of excellence, poise, independence, and caring and it was carried everywhere a WHS student went. It was a uniqueness which was felt by each person entering our building or observing us at various functions. We were noticed . . .

. . . because sometimes

Wedding Bells Ring for Royal Couple

"Wedding of the Century" proved to be a new style for Lady Di. She and Prince Charles were expecting a child in the Summer of 1982, who would be next in line for the throne of England.

"Reaganomics" New Style of Politics

Brainstorming Washington for the first time, the President-elect gave an Oscar-winning performance. But Americans were in a fretful mood, fearful about recession and the prospect of nuclear war. Economics expected the recession to extend into 1982, after a year that had been marked by the high interest rates and a continued slowdown in inflation. Many criticized Reagan's new style of politics. The biggest criticism was his budget cuts. Taxes and defense were the most critical debates. For our high school students loan programs for college were cut and a cut in the agriculture budget could have been a detriment to our new Ag barn.

Major Leaders Lives Threatened

In early Summer of 1981, a conspiracy to kill Pope John Paul was admitted by Italians. Rumors had spread that Libya's Muammar Gaddafi had sent hit teams to kill President Reagan. Meanwhile, John Hinkley, Jr. shot the President, putting James Brady, the President's Press Secretary, in a critical condition. The President survived; Brady was more seriously injured.

Anwar Sadat, President of Egypt was assassinated, and Moshe Dayan, an Israeli military leader, died of a heart attack. Brigadier General Dosier was kidnapped by the Red Brigade in Italy.

Winter Weather Worst in Nation's History

Winter blasted much of the U.S. with record lows, destruction and death. In the snow, a Florida-bound 737 crashed into the Potomac, killing 78. Locally, water froze and motorists were stranded because of freezing ice. School closed for three days.

International and Local News

Martial law was declared in Poland. The cold trip of martial law turned Poland into a nation of fearful hostages cut off from the rest of the world. Protest spread across the country as the food shortage worsened. Sanctions were imposed and ambassadors defected as the Poles tried to cope with martial law. Polish workers used passive resistance to oppose the military government. Lech Walesa, Poland's labor leader, stood as an international symbol for the struggle of freedom. U.S. sent military aid to a revolutionary group in El Salvador.

Fashion: Wylie Style

Whether the fad was jeans and a sweater, or the latest IZOD, you were likely to find all kinds of style at WHS. More than ever, the student body chose to show their style. Trends showed a freer, more chic fashion of clothing. Stores were filled with displays of girls in the new nautical or sailor style. Leza Gibbons, the hostess of PM Magazine, was seen wearing a headband almost every night, and how many couples did you know who had "twinkie" shirts? Wearing the same shirts and/or pants was one way to distinguish if a couple was still dating. Many things were a determining factor in deciding your unique personality. It was evident that fashion played a big part in your style.

What is your “style”?

Sometimes the stress of high school life made us do odd things. Even after all of the homework was done, all of the deadlines were met, and all of the club meetings were attended, students found time to have fun and goof off, sometimes even sleep. But, besides the usual work load, many found themselves making signs for student council, selling candy bars for a club money-making project, and decorating for homecoming and the prom. I guess you could say that we were a . . .

"Canutillo, where in the world is Canutillo," was the most popular question asked during Homecoming Week. Now thanks to a much publicized game, the whole area knows the Canutillo Eagles traveled 1400 miles by plane to play Wylie on Homecoming. Not only did the team come, but the band, cheerleaders, and fans as well. Needless to say, the week's activities held a special excitement and flair. The traditional activities of mum sales, pep rallies, and spirit themes filled the week. Then came the big night. The AHMO bean bust, sponsored by the Quarter Back Club, began the festivities as Alumni and students flocked to see Wylie defeat their guests 33-14. Balloons and the usual clowns created as much of a sideline show as the game.

During halftime, to a background provided by "That Wylie Band," the Homecoming Court was presented. Then to a packed stadium, Senior Amy Sewell was crowned Homecoming Queen by Teresa Martin, the 1981 Queen. Senior Wayna Allen was named first runner up. After the coronation, the Queen and her court were driven around the field to receive waves and congratulations from well wishers.

Closing the events was the Homecoming dance held in the old gym. Streamers decorated the gym and students danced to the sounds of music by Jon Mueller.

▲ The dance made a grand finale for all the Homecoming events.

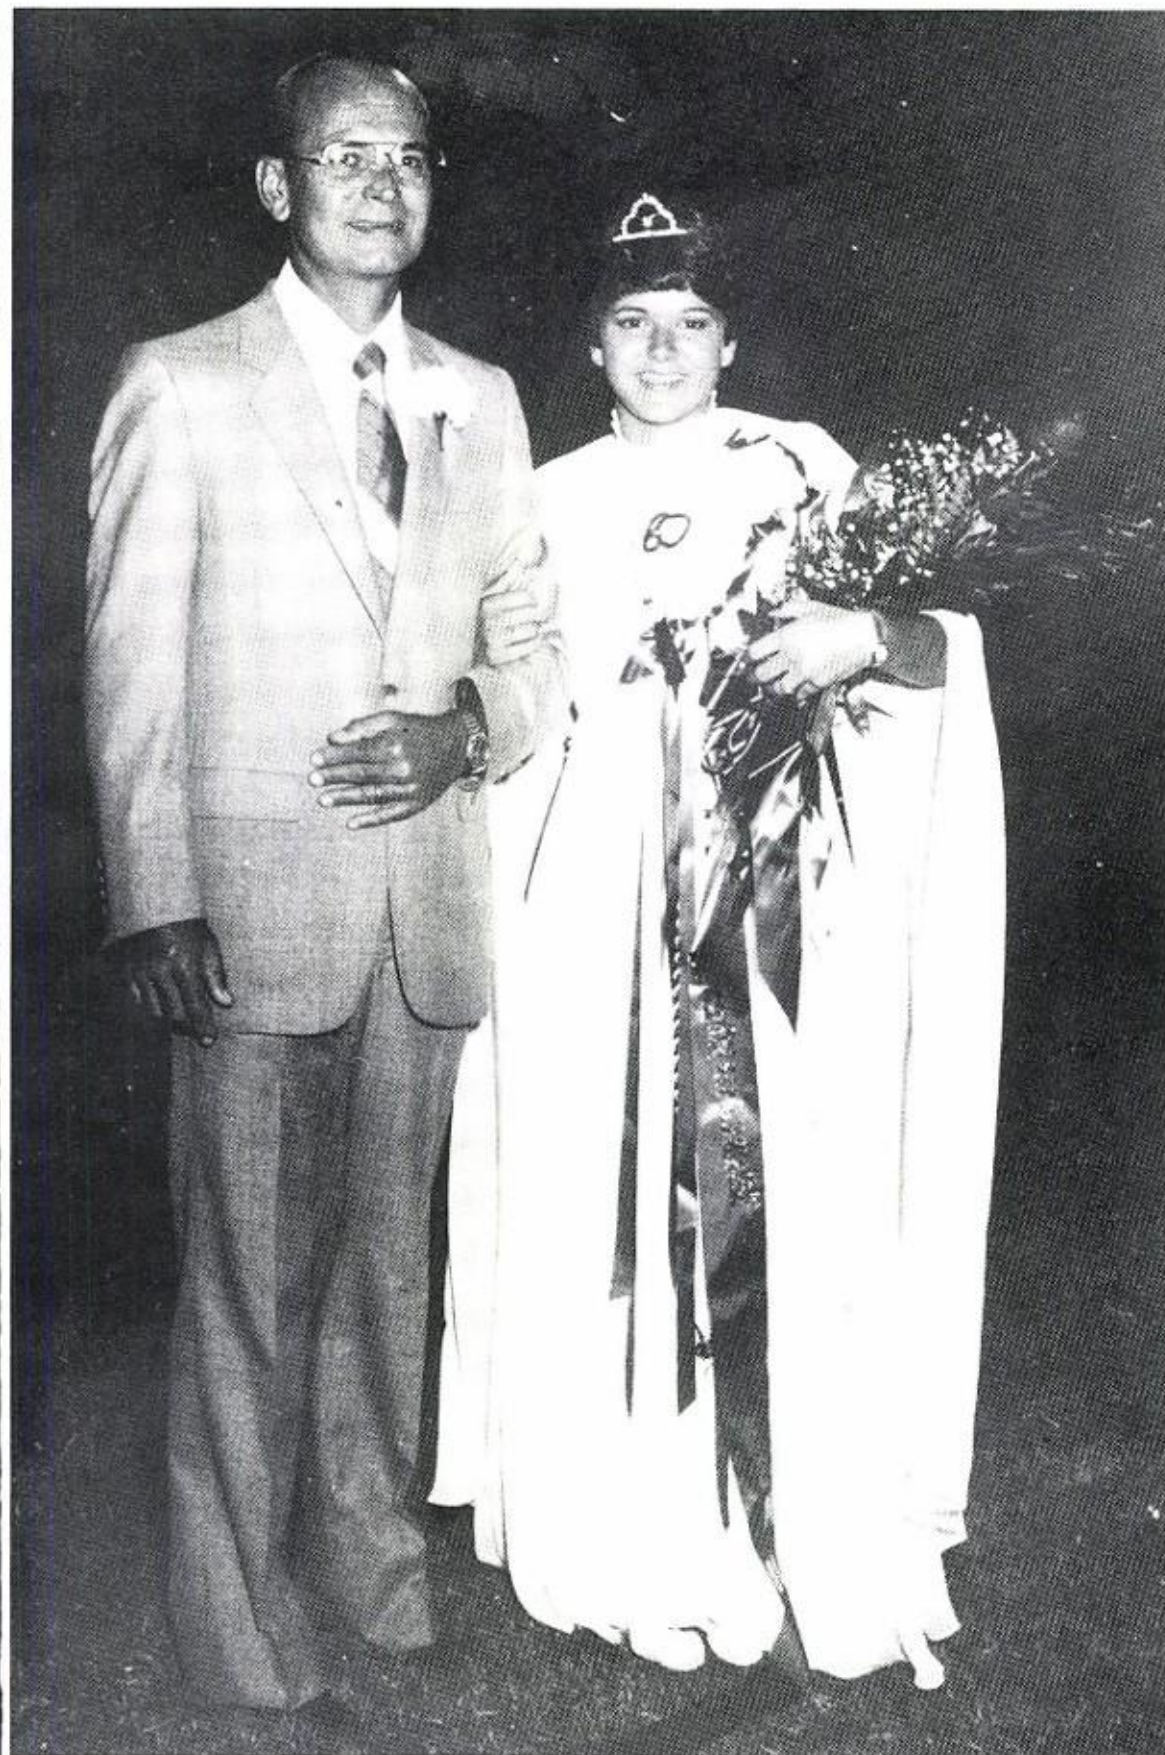

▲ The clowns were caught imitating the cheerleaders.

▲ The Homecoming game against Canutillo was one that many girls looked forward to.

"Tonight, We're Going

It's late Wednesday night. Janet sits watching the last half of "The Great American Hero." The phone rings. Her little brother rushes to answer it. "Janet," he yells. "What," says Janet. He screams into the receiver, "It's a boy!" Janet runs to her bedroom, slams the door, and picks up the receiver. She very timidly says, "Hello?" The voice on the other end says, "Uhhh, Hi, this is Bobby. Watcha doin' Friday night?" "Well, I don't know." "Would you kinda, maybe, if you don't have anything planned, would you like to go out with me?" Suddenly, in the background, they hear a thud. Janet's brother is heard running through the house, singing, "hey MOM, Janet's got a date." Janet says, "Oh, I'm so embarrassed." Bobby then replies, "Ahh, that's o.k., do ya still want to go out?" "Yea." "Pick you up about seven."

Remember? That probably happened at least one time didn't it? High School dating and relationships were a big part of our lives, and some students found that "special someone" to enjoy school with.

BRIGADOON

BRIGADOON, a sometimes "foggy" play about a hidden town, got off to a slow start. Because of the freezing weather, rehearsals were cancelled or were done without heat in the elementary cafeteria. Production nights became a new fear. Many weren't getting out in the weather, so the audiences were small. But after word got around, the house was filled with a receptive audience. The use of fog, colored lights, and scenes done outside the curtain, were new ways of showing off a maturing theatre department.

Activities Honor Athletes

Once again the cafeteria was transformed into a magical and chic place for the annual Football Banquet. Given by the Quarterback Club to honor the members of the football team, the banquet allows students and citizens a chance to don their evening clothes and enjoy an evening of fun and relaxation.

Of course, the purpose of the banquet is to honor those members of the football team the coaches feel were outstanding in various ways. Kyle Craighead, Blake Barry, and Richard Edge were awarded the Outstanding Back awards. Outstanding Lineman awards were given to Ken Simmons, Daniel Jones, W. C. Nix, and Rusty Gardner. Derek Ammerman, Kyle Craighead, Raymon Montgomery, and W. C. Nix were presented with the Outstanding Captain award. Finally, The Most Improved Player award was presented to Jeff Gillis, Tommy Kirkpatrick, and David Martin.

Normally, the Sports picnic was the banquet for all other sports in the school. Awards were presented to the outstanding athletes in sports other than football. However, this year, the picnic was merely a place to relax and have a good time. The usual awards presentation was eliminated to allow more time to eat and play at Seis Logos. Students enjoyed swimming, playing pool, playing volleyball, and, most of all, making sure the coaches had a nice refreshing swim.

This Night Will Be Unforgettable

What better way to honor special people than a banquet. Evidently, the Vocational clubs felt exactly that as they honored employers, parents and students at the annual Vocational and FFA banquets.

The Vocational clubs, HECE, VOE, and DE, combined efforts to give employers of their co-op students a relaxing evening. Neal Jefferies, former pro football player, entertained the crowd with a juggling act and a motivational talk. Speeches thanking the employers were given by members of each group.

At still another banquet, the FFA honored its members and parents in the cafeteria with a meal catered by Earnies BBQ. This group had a special reason to celebrate because the new project center was finally a reality. All of the hard work and dedication paid off, and the members moved into the finished barn during the spring. Special awards were given to: Nadine DeTarville, Star Greenhand; Keith Jones, Star Chapter Farmer; Honorary Chapter Farmer — Charles Jones, Betty Jones, Harold Spence, and Chub Morrow; Raymond Cooper, Appreciation award. In addition, the largest Greenhand group in the history of Wylie Ag, 31 students, and 13 Chapter Farmers were recognized.

Hats off to you

All of those long, hard hours spent supporting and running the various organizations should be rewarded in some way, and the Sponsor's Club centered the theme of the annual organizations banquet around just that — "Hats off to YOU."

In a transformed cafeteria, club members got to sit back and enjoy the meal catered by Ernie's Bar-B-Que. Entertainment was provided by the Choir and Thespian Society. A special highlight of the evening was a rousing song sung by the Barbershoppers and dedicated to Principal, Robert Shirley. Thespian members Randy Martin and Jeff Pritchard presented a humorous skit, "Whose on First."

The atmosphere turned serious as sponsors recognized their club members with certificates and mountains of praise. To top off the night, Lori Helmberger received the Sponsor's Club Scholarship, and Sherry Browning was named alternate.

Battle of the Classes

Alias Sadie Hawkins Day

"It's so much fun, it's a shame more won't participate," one disgruntled sophomore said. This off-the-cuff remark seemed to sum up the apathetic response to the annual Sadie Hawkins Day Benefit (renamed Battle of the Classes) sponsored by STUCO. Prior to the event, club members had a difficult time finding enough participants who would pay the 25¢ entry fee. Perhaps the constant rain and postponement caused students to be less than enthusiastic because when the actual events began, more and more got into the swing of things.

◀ Trying hard to win the game for their class, students chugged root beer, raced bikes, built pyramids, and tugged in the ever popular tug of war. The Seniors took the championship while the rest of the classes battled for second place. Proceeds from the day were donated to the Franks and Cooper families to help defray the cost of high medical bills. Laura Donges and Greg Cryer pulled for the Sophomores.

Let the Good Time Roll

The Terrace room of the Holiday Inn was transformed into a tropical paradise. Palm trees and plants lined the pool and dining area while lit candles adorned the tables and floated in the pool. The pool, an anxious area for faculty and sponsors, provided a pleasant atmosphere for strolling and showing off all the finery. After dinner, to the boo's and oh's of the Seniors, Suzanne Gosselin and Brooke Coleman read the prophecy. Not to be outdone, Dee Dee Winfrey and Blake Barry read the will to the Juniors, after Blake presented a hilarious portrayal of Mr. Shirley. After dinner, everyone let the good times roll to the sounds of Jeff Bettes.

Fighting back the tears and struggling to keep from being overwhelmed with a flood of memories, yet eagerly awaiting the future, seniors received their diplomas during the May 28 commencement. As the senior sponsors turned the tassel, receiving an egg in return, the graduates moved on to another sphere of their lives. Summarizing the feeling of the class and challenging them on to bigger and better things were the topics of the speeches given by Kathy Howard, Valedictorian, and Brian Chaney, Salutatorian. Patron of the Arts

Although Picasso and Shakespeare were both artists, Picasso used a brush and Shakespeare used the stage. Many do not consider drama and the theatre a form of art. The drama students in Miss Kemplin's class could have proven that last statement wrong by exhibiting their learned art of expression and movement. In order for others to see the dramatic aspects of art, productions such as Wiley and the Hairy Man, The Christmas Tea, Brigadoon, and The Glass Menagerie were performed. Thespians Brooke Coleman and Sandra Crawford participated in a six-week Scarborough Faire, a Renaissance Festival in Waxahachie. And, for the first time, the U.I.L. One-Act play became a state finalist.

Of course, the art club had an easier time displaying their talent in art. Julie Mueller, a four-year advanced art student, won $100 in prize money for her design in the Wylie Logo Contest. As a new choice in art, a photography class was added as a one-semester course. Basic photography and developing was taught in the new darkroom, which used to be Mrs. Stripling's closet.

OEA-FHA

Concentrate on Service

Some organizations stem directly from a particular course, and, many times, club activities are actually a part of the class. Two such organizations were the Future Homemaker America and Office Education Association. Both club's members were in Home Economics and VOE, and many club activities were related to course content.

OEA, one of the most active clubs on campus, was constantly involved in some type of activity. If they were not supporting other organizations by giving them little surprises like goodie bags or flowers, they were going on field trips to business like Tax Logic and the Dallas Teacher's Credit Union to find out how business actually works. Involvement was not limited to school activities. Their float took 1st place in the Christmas parade and they walked 10 miles in a Walkathon to support Special Olympics. To make money to support their activities and trip to the State Convention, the group sold mums for Homecoming and candy for Valentines Day. Recognition for all came in the form of placing high in both the Area and State Contests.

FHA was another group that spent their time and efforts in supporting the school activities. To boost morale during the Allen game, the club made blue cookies and gave them to students and players during lunch. Teachers were honored at a special breakfast cooked and served by members. Other activities related to the Area and state level of FHA. Members attended conventions and Lori Lemons served as the Area 5 Treasurer.

FFA — Training for Tomorrow

Hard work seemed to be the name of the game in Ag. FFA members were required to complete projects as well as work on club projects. To raise money for the various shows and banquet, the group and parent organizations sold fruit, sausage and had a tractor pull. Probably the most important part of the FFA program was the various livestock shows.

Students took their projects to the three major livestock shows: Dallas, Ft. Worth, and Houston. At each show, members brought home ribbons and trophies. In addition, the club also attended several small week-end shows such as Frisco and Collin County. Of course, the highlight of the year was the local project show held on the school parking lot. Students showed their projects, then sold them, usually for a profit, to townspeople. The money made the whole thing more fun and worthwhile.

A new, exciting note was the opening of the new project center. Built last year with funds raised by the parent supporter group, the barn houses students' projects. In return, the members pay rent and are totally responsible for the care and uptake.

Language with a flair

Learning the language was not enough in the foreign language classes. You needed to be aware of the particular countries, customs, food, and lifestyles. The best way to become acquainted with these was to join the foreign language club.

The Spanish Club concentrated on Spanish food and lifestyles. By selling spirit hands, the group made money to donate to Pesos for Braces, and Amigos de las Americas. The members varied the routine of class by attending an exhibition of Flamenco Dancers from Spain, and then picnicking in Old City Park. Highlighting the monthly meetings were a talk by Rhadames Salino, from the Dominican Republic, and a Christmas party at the McCasland's.

Finally, to top off the year, delegates attended the annual convention in San Antonio. After attending workshops, lectures, and the Grande Baile, delegates stayed on an extra day to tour the sights of San Antonio.

European flavor came to Wylie as the French Club sold exotic candies to raise money for their various activities. Gummy bears were by far the favorites. The group began their year by going to the Magic Pan to announce newly-elected officers. Fun times for the group included the all time favorite, eating out, participating in skits, and having an Easter Egg Hunt.

Spreading the Word

Keeping the student body informed was not an easy task. Members of the newspaper, The Galleon, and the yearbook staff, The Pirate, soon found out there was absolutely no glamor in layouts, copy writing, and deadlines. Beginning at the SMU summer work shop, the staffs planned and schemed to make both publications bigger and better.

The Galleon crew worked constantly to publish the monthly paper. In addition to publishing, the staff had to finance the paper and needed equipment. A special edition that included pictures was printed to honor the Seniors. All of the long hours and hard work left little time to socialize, but the staff found time to have a luncheon (after the final edition was out). Abby LeCoco, Editor, was named as outstanding student.

There was much more to a yearbook than just pictures. The Pirate staff soon found themselves buried under mounds of layouts and pictures. At the same time the group was trying to completely re-vamp the previous style of the book, a slide show was prepared in an effort to boost sales. The show was such a success, it was presented at open house and at the Middle School. It was actually late in the second semester before the staff could relax enough to have a party at Figero's to celebrate a deadline. The finale came at the year end party when Sandy Mulkey, Sponsor, thanked the staff with a lasagne dinner and named Sherry Browning, Editor, outstanding student. A special thanks went to Assistant Editor, Suzan Coker.

Leaders Consider Students

Keeping busy was one of the Student Council's specialties. Dances, the Christmas Parade, Christmas door decorations, Sadie Hawkins Day, and the Homecoming activities took up much of the representatives' time. Some of the meeting time was spent evaluating the different policies of STUCO and the various honors or special people awards. Many students felt the awards were too plentiful and, because of this, meaningless to the student body. After much consideration, the group decided to keep the same awards as in the past. As the end of the year approached, the elections for the coming year were held. The new officers attended the State Convention in Austin. For the first time, candidates had to campaign and present their campaign speeches in front of the student body instead of over the intercom.

Another group of leaders was the GLAD group who is nominated and voted on by the faculty and student body. During the year, GLAD attended leadership seminars at The University of Texas at Dallas and East Texas State University to hear speakers motivate and inspire. Sponsoring the Wadley Blood Drive was, perhaps, the biggest and most successful project GLAD has taken part in.

NHS Helps Community

National Honor Society had a year full of charitable and money-making projects. A canned food drive was sponsored at Thanksgiving to help five needy families in the Wylie community. At Christmas, NHS put on a Santa-Pal project for the first time; it proved successful by supplying eleven children with Christmas presents. The Slave Sale was a very profitable project that brought in over $400 to help send the officers to a National Leadership Camp during the summer. The annual carnation sale at Valentines was again a success. NHS finished the year by inducting nine new members into the society.

Vocational Programs: Opportunity for Career Minded

Working half a day played a big part in the lives of those students involved in the work programs of Home Economics Cooperative Education and Distributive Education Cooperative Association. These programs were organized to help students who were interested in a home economics or a retail sales career. The juniors and seniors who participated gained valuable on-the-job training relating to their various career choices.

Although working was part of every HECE student's daily routine, they found time to become involved in their club's activities. Each member sold candy in order to raise money so the club could attend the Area and State FHA/HERO conventions in Dallas and Ft. Worth. This money was also used for the annual employer/employee banquet. During the year the club chose the March of Dimes as their service projects.

Selling class T-shirts with each student's name printed on the shirt helped DECA raise funds for their yearly activities. These activities included a field trip to the World Trade Center and participating in the employer/employee banquet in which the students employers were honored.

With Mike St. John dressed as Santa Claus, members from HECE and DECA visited the children at Boles Home Orphanage in Quinlan during the Christmas Holidays. The two organizations carried gifts for each child and gave the children a Christmas party.

Small, But Active

Although the Library Aides was a small group, they chose to be involved in many activities. They began with a magic puzzle sale. During the Christmas season, the group caroled at the Wylie Nursing Home and had their annual Christmas party at president, Sherry Browning's home. The spring project was the selling of canhandlers advertising the school's new slogan, AHMO-DILLO. March 4-6 several Aides traveled to Odessa for the annual TALA Convention. They enjoyed business meetings, tours, banquets and some free time to swim. For the first time the club started a scrapbook. District 7 Recording Secretary, Debra Adams stated that being secretary was "an interesting and delightful experience. I would definitely encourage other students to participate in library activities and run for office."

With a few more students to sing, the Choir concentrated on public exposure. They sang in concert for all schools and participated in special programs throughout the year for community organizations such as the Kiwanis Club, Wylie City Council, and the Senior Citizens. In addition, members of the Choraliers took part in the UIL Solo Contest as well as the UIL Choral Competition and the Sandy Lake Choral Festival.

Top salesman, Ken Steelman spent most of his lunch peddling the canhandlers.

Is the all time, favorite pastime, music, in danger of extinction? With the growing popularity of video games, we found more and more students playing games. On the other side of the coin, concert go'ers were out in droves to hear their favorite recording artist. When it comes down to the bottom line — bucks, which will win? WHS'ers think:

Video Games will win because they are so addicting — David Shields, Jr.

They play music in the arcades, so you have both — David Edwards, Jr.

Personally, I'd prefer music, but video games are on the way up. — Sandra Crawford, Jr.

Band Steps to Different Beat

New uniforms and a completely different image met band members as they began to prepare for the new year. Under the direction of John Fullerton and Lynne Tinsley, the marching style was changed from the old get down, boogie marching to a corps style. Uniforms went from coveralls and hats to white pants, maroon shirts, yellow ascots and cumberbuns, and maroon aussie hats. In addition, a flag corps was created. At once, the veteran members of the band protested, as did some parents and students.

Marching season began amidst a turmoil of heated words and actions. However, somewhere in this confusion, the band began to emerge. Halftimes were performed and progress, it seemed, was being made as the band prepared for the Cotton Bowl Parade of Champions.

Struggling to conform to the new style and image, the band participated in several more marching contests: The Cleburne Marching Contest and the UIL Marching Competition, improving their score each time.

By the end of regular marching season, the turmoil was still present, and, in an attempt to unify the group, the directors agreed the band could add a "boogie" to the halftime show during the play off games. By combining both styles in the program, the band hoped to unite once again. For a time it appeared to work, but, as the new semester began, the dissention grew again, and Mr. Fullerton, in the interest of the band, resigned his position.

Keith Christopher, former band member, agreed to direct the band for the remainder of the year. He hoped to pick up the pieces and salvage the group, but only the future will tell.

Pirates Do What Other Teams Dream Of . . .

A perfect season is the dream of coaches and players alike, and the Wylie Pirates made that dream come true in pre-season and district play. The 10-0 season began with a 37-14 win over Lancaster. Next, the Pirates sailed by Seagoville and Kaufman with scores of 38-0 and 55-14. Bonham played a tough game, but a blocked punt in the fourth quarter provided a 23-17 victory. Homecoming with Canutillo, a team from West Texas, added another victory (33-14) to the list.

District play opened on a muddy field with a 27-7 defeat over Commerce.

Next, the long awaited game with archrival Allen arrived. After a week of spirit rousing activities, the Pirates, for the fifth time in six years, defeated the Eagles. The last three games with Quinlan, Lake Dallas, and Whitesboro ended with victories of 20-0, 49-7, and 43-0.

With a 10-0 record and the so familiar district title, the Pirates advanced to the playoffs.

4th Quarter Magic

It appeared that the whole state was beginning to hear of that infamous spirit word, AHMO. The news media had certainly given it and its origin enough courage. All of the teams in the district had not only heard of, but experienced AHMO magic, usually to their dismay. What the opposing teams did not realize was that they were being psyched by two powerful themes — AHMO and "The fourth quarter is Ours." Had they taken time to notice, they would have seen the four fingers cropping up throughout the stands and on the field at the beginning of the fourth quarter and felt that surge of pride and positiveness they brought.

According to legend, "4th quarter" began in 1977 when the State Championship team was in the playoffs with Breckenridge. It was the end of the fourth quarter and all seemed lost. The Pirates made a touchdown in the last three seconds of the game and created a legend and attitude that has prevailed and earned the Pirates the nickname of "the 4th quarter team."

Playoff Action — Pirate Style

A deafening hush filled the stands and field as the final buzzer sounded. For a moment, it seemed as though both groups, Wylie and Gilmer alike, could not believe that final score. Then, the tears of disappointment began as the Pirates realized their dream was shattered. Gilmer went on to State, and Wylie went home to begin again and wonder what happened.

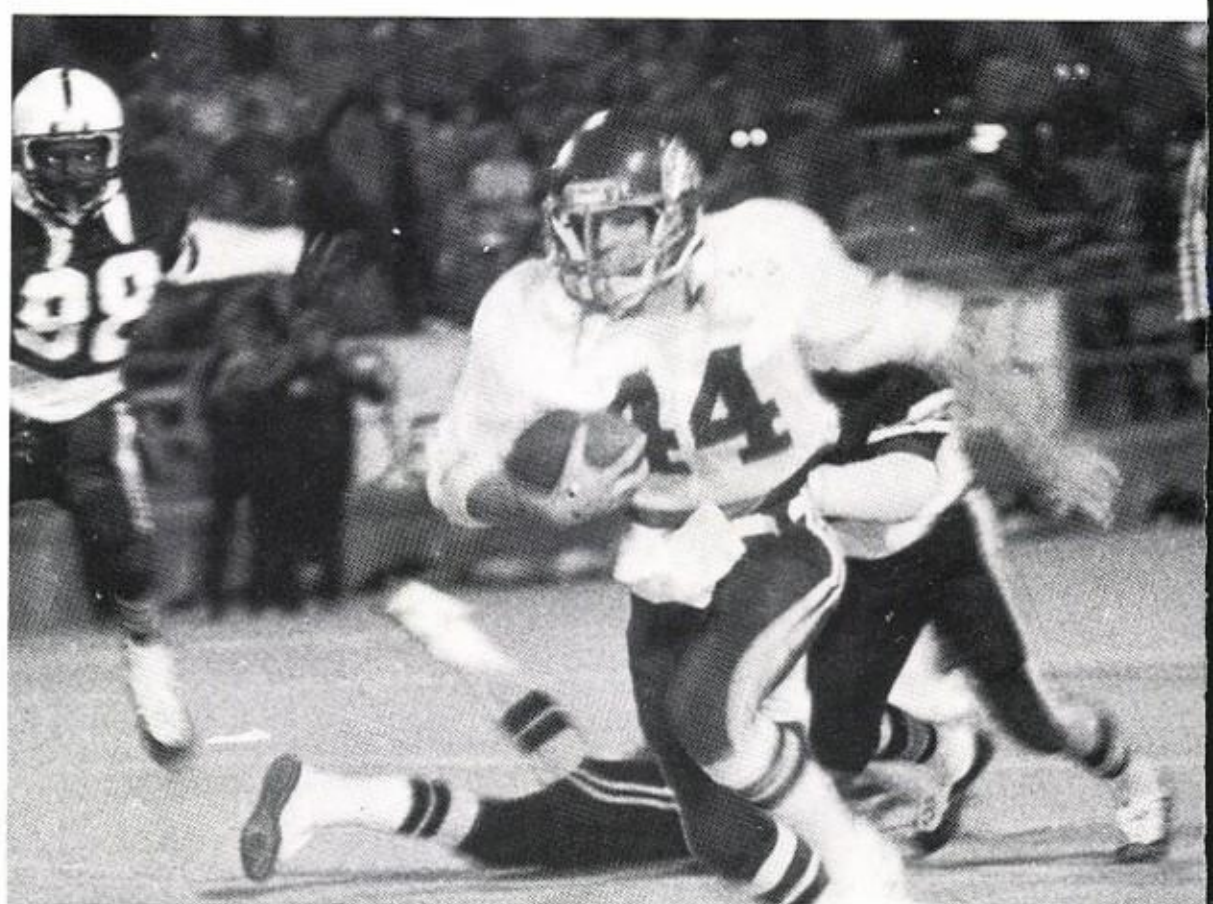

And what did happen? The playoff season began with all the excitement and furor typical of Wylie. The 10-0 season leading into the playoffs gave everyone a positive feeling, and the Bi-District win over Midlothian (28-6) served to encourage the Pirates even more. The Regional game with Bowie was close, with the Pirates winning on one twenty yard penetration in the fourth quarter, but a win, nevertheless.

Then came the Quarter Finals. The Buckeyes didn't appear that tough. The game progressed according to plan, with the Pirates holding a 7-0 lead until the third quarter when things began to fall apart. Gilmer made a touchdown and twenty yard field goal. The Pirates came back early in the fourth quarter with a 14-9 lead, but not even that AHMO magic could hold the Buckeyes as they made another touchdown and won the game, 16-14.

Probably, the question of what happened to Wylie will never be answered. One team won and one team, lost? Not exactly. Wylie didn't see it that way. One team went on to state and the other team, the Pirates, came home as REGIONAL CHAMPS and definite winners.

Learning new skills and improvement was a big part of JV and Freshman football. Each player was drilled and re-drilled to enable him to perform at his capacity and gain enough knowledge to go on to the Varsity. In addition to playing their own games each week, the squad had the important job of running the scout teams for the Varsity. The JV ended their own season with a record of (4-1).

The JV girls team ended a rough season with a (2-4) record. Under the direction of a new coach, Fontelle Flavin, the girls could not seem to pull together enough to pull out the wins. However, in a turnabout, the team placed second in the Wylie Tournament against Trinity Christian.

Frustration and disappointment were the prevailing emotions as the Varsity girls basketball team battled to finish season play with the district title. A misunderstanding over UIL rules caused them to forfeit one game at the peak of the season with a 13-5 record. Struggling to overcome this loss, the team defeated Quinlan. A heartbreaking loss to Whitesboro (43-46) dashed all hopes of the title, and the Pirates finished District play with a 6-3 season. An uplifting note came when Dee Dee Winfrey was named to All-district and Jan Watkins, Kelly LeFevre and Gloria Dossett were added as Honorable Mention.

Under the direction of a new Coach, Fontelle Flavin, the J.V. ended their season with a 4-1 record. The team bounded through district season play, beating every team in sight. The only loss came with the game to Lake Dallas. This loss ended season play with a tie for 1st place in District.

J.V. and Ninth Cager's Work for Wins

Junior varsity basketball players had the limelight all to themselves for a while. Since we were still in the football playoffs, most of the varsity team was still playing football. This meant the JV had to play alone, at least until football season was over.

Under the guidance of a new coach, Bill Rushing, the team played with determination and dedication. However, the beginning of the district season was slow and the Pirates lost the first three games. In an end of the season comeback, the team defeated Whitesboro 55-52 and Quinlan 48-37.

Another new coach, Phil Wilbanks, directed the ninth grade team. In an up and down district season, the team finished district play with a 3-2 record. The first game of the season resulted in a disappointing loss to Allen of 60-41. Then, a turnabout win over Lake Dallas gave the Pirates incentive. A loss to Commerce and a win over Whitesboro kept the see-saw season going. The final game over Quinlan was a win of 46-37.

Athletics — Other Shapes and Sizes

What did you do if you were interested in sports not provided by the school system? Many students struck out on their own or in groups to find their niche in the world of athletics.

One of the most popular out of school sports was rodeoing. Students of all ages and sex could be found trying their hand at bull riding, calf roping, or barrel racing. Most of the students were sponsored by the Wylie Rodeo Club, a private club created by interested parents.

In addition to those who chose to try to rope or ride a wild horse, some found training and showing horses to be a fulfilling job. Back on the traditional sports level, several students showed their athletic prowess by playing soccer for nearby teams. Whatever the sport, our students found a place, team, or organization to enable them to fulfill their dreams.

▲ Mark Cox tried to ride out in a high school rodeo.

▲ Carrie Songer ran the barrels during the South Garland rodeo. Carrie stated that horsemanship and a positive attitude play a big part in having a good running time.

◀ "To me, playing soccer is exciting and exhilarating. It requires coordination and stamina and teaches you a lot about life," stated Billy Carr who had been playing for nine years.

▲ Brooke Coleman spent many hours with the show hunter-jumpers she showed. She had been riding for seven years and showing for three. "I have always loved horses and showing was just a natural outlet for this love."

◀ Greg Walker stayed on top of this monster for three seconds during the Canton High School Rodeo.

Swinging Into Action

What? A girls golf team? The competition was probably surprised, but their eyes did not deceive them. Wylie did have a girls golf team, much to everyone's surprise. The novice team practiced daily and placed third in district. Amy Sewell, the only veteran girl golfer, defended her district title and went on to the regional tournament. The male counterpart to this, the boys team, "will do much better with more practice," said Coach Bob Wyskup. The team showed well despite a seventh place ranking. Jay Garrick led the team with an 81.

Tennis was off and swinging in the district tournament held in Commerce. Placing first in district, the girls team showed well in singles and doubles. Jan Watkins took second place in singles and Marty Campbell won third. In doubles, Pam Rollins and Rhonda Marlow placed third. In the boys division, Charlie Schumann took first in singles at district and went on to place third at regional.

Bats Swing to Championship

Bats were swinging, and spirits were high as the baseball season got off to a big start. The weather was cold at times, but clear as the Pirates slammed their way through pre-season with a record of 8-2. However, late in preliminary play, the rain started. Game after game had to be postponed until it appeared the district title would be decided by a flip of the coin. Struggling to make sure the games would be played and praying for clear skies, Coach Sam Terry led (or should we say, paddled) his team to a District Championship.

District play read like a fairy tale with hitting, pitching, and defense clicking away game after game. An opening win of 9-0 over Quinlan started the season, while a loss of 4-3 to archrival Allen did as much to dampen spirits as the rain. The next five wins over Commerce, Lake Dallas, Quinlan, Allen, and Whitesboro boosted moral and confidence to an all time high.

The final two games against Commerce and Lake Dallas were crucial. The Pirates beat the Commerce Tigers behind the two-hit pitching of Rusty Gardner and a nine-hit attack by the Pirate hitters. In the final game against Lake Dallas, the team squeaked by with a win of 2-1 with pitcher, Kyle Craighead, allowing only two hits, striking out ten, and walking four. This win forced a district play-off game with Allen and allowed the Pirates to finish the second half of play with a perfect record of 5-0.

This excellence in team work and individual achievement was amply rewarded when the all-district team was announced. Rusty Gardner and Dennis Taylor were named as pitchers; Daniel Jones, catcher; Richard Edge, infielder; and Blake Barry, designated hitter. Coach Sam Terry was named Coach of the Year, and Kyle Craighead captured the Most Valuable Player Award.

Pirate Nine Advances to State

Plagued by rain and looking for dry land, the Pirates captured the district title by defeating Allen in two games of the district play-off series. Moving on to bi-district, the nine drew a bye in the first round and shut out the Aledo Bearcats (2-0) in the first game of the second round series. In the second game against Aledo, the Pirates narrowly defeated the Bearcats with a score of 4-3. Excitement was building as the team advanced to the regional games. By eliminating Fabens (6-2) at the Midland game, the Pirate nine became the first team in Wylie history to advance to the state playoffs in Austin. In Austin the hopeful team met their opponents, Crockett in a late afternoon game. However, the Crockett team held the Pirates for most of the game, and a late inning comeback could not capture the game as Crockett edged the team in a 4-3 defeat. The season ended with the regional championship and an outstanding record of 23 wins and 5 losses.

Rusty Gardner caught a fly ball.

Track Runs On

"I am proud to be associated with the whole team, but especially Jimmy Franks and Brian Chaney. At a time when our track program seemed to be going down hill, the leadership and dedication of these two young men became an inspiration to the rest of the team. Because of their efforts, the returning team will have a good foundation to begin work with." — Coach Loy Dorsey.

The boys track team began the season with hard work and determination to make a good showing in district. To prepare and develop their skills, they participated in quite a few pre-district meets. The meets at Allen, Frisco, Wylie, Grand Saline, and Trinity Christian seemed to serve their purpose because the Pirates placed fourth in district at Allen. Brian Chaney qualified for regional in the discus and Jimmy Franks qualified in the 400 meter. In addition, Robert Franks set a new record in the 300 intermediate hurdles.

Ladies Time It Just Right

To come it came naturally, to others it proved to be a task. The girls track team proved themselves to be naturals when they excelled in meet after meet. To prepare for that all important district meet, the team competed in several pre-season events at Frisco and Wylie. All of the practice and hard work paid off when the girls swept District, winning with 141 points. Additionally, ten members qualified for Regional: Tracey Mitchell, Dee Dee Winfrey, Chris Langston, Sherry White, Kristi Robinson, Stacy Ellenburg, Beth Brewster, and Julie Hoffman. On the Regional level Sherry White qualified to compete in the State competition.

Working equally as hard to perfect their skills and speed was the Junior Varsity team. By competing in the pre-season meets, the girls sharpened their skills enough to place second at the District meet with 150 points. Winners of ribbons were: Lori Ellis, Debbie Winfrey, Kim Reed, Susie Gaylor, Melissa Duncan, Melissa Barry, Mary Jo Helmberger, Alice Dunlop, and Dana Cooper.

Crowded classrooms were filled with 500 students, all with separate identities and styles. Teachers had to swap rooms at different times in the day and classes were added to the school curriculum. With the newness of the year came a new vice-principal, Mr. Landers. At times, the student body seemed to be one. But, as the school year progressed and class activities occurred, we had a way of . . .

Administration

The Success Factor

Cooperation and dedication are the key ingredients in making any organization successful, and Wylie Public Schools was no exception. By adopting a "student first" attitude, the district succeeded in providing an atmosphere that was conducive to learning and achieving academic and extra-curricular excellence.

On the administrative level, the Board of Trustees and Superintendent, Don Whitt, provided the management and skills necessary to unite all campuses and personnel into the body dedicated to the teaching of students. By providing excellent facilities and supplies, the staff was able to concentrate on the task of placing the students, needs first.

Building principals played an active part in guiding each campus through the programs, old and new. With their open door policy, students and faculty were given the opportunity to voice needs and suggestions. Faculty members spent long, productive hours guiding students through the daily routine. The result of this dedication and student interest was a basically happy, unified group that excelled in learning.

The Leaders

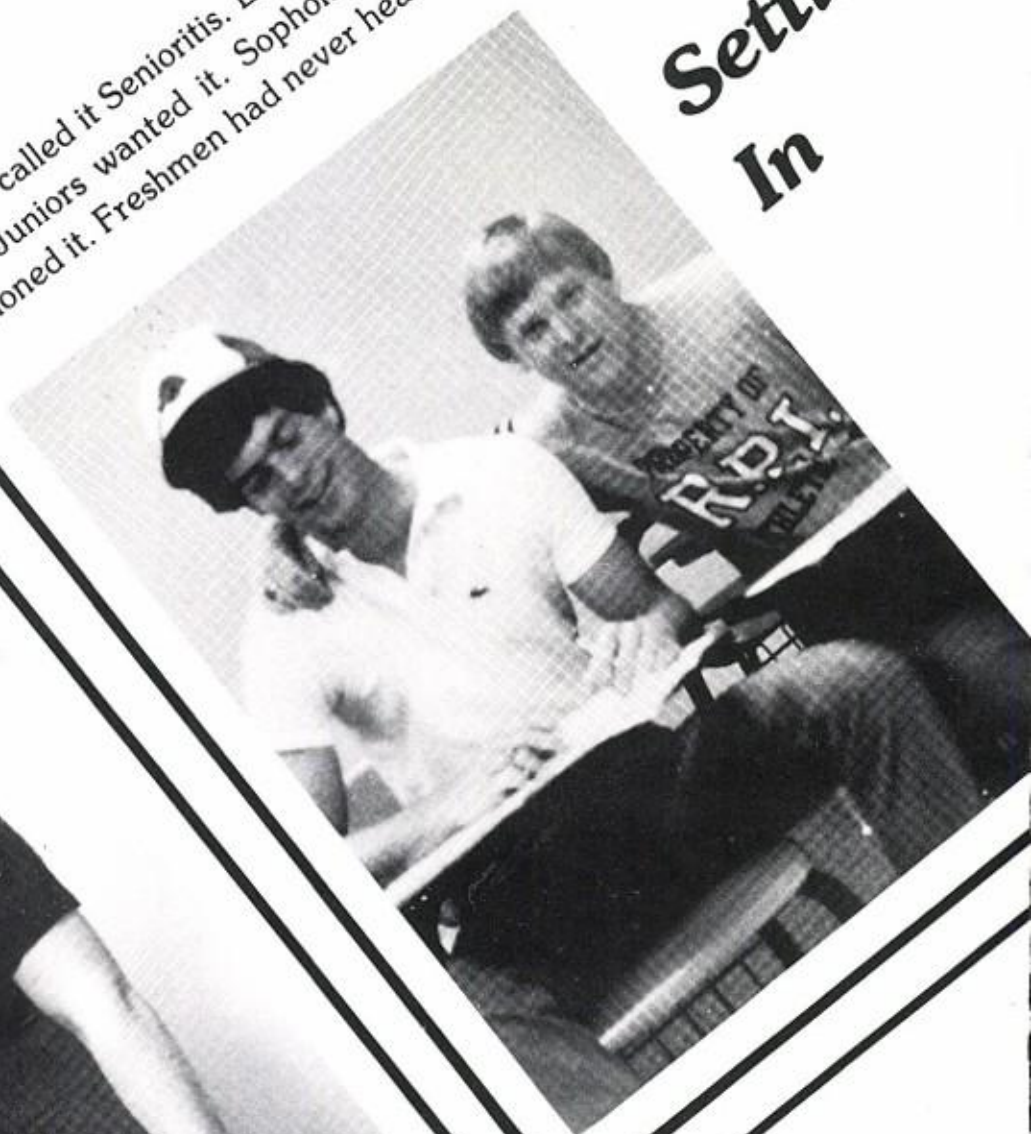

The Thrill

Think back to the first weeks of your Senior year. You felt so big, so superior. Then, you remembered when that Fresh man couldn't find her class and you had to show her. Seniors always went to the front of the lunch line, and the Seniors always had a special place to park their cars. We felt privileged, until we took our first test in Coach Wyskup's Civics class. The time came when we fell back to earth and became just another high school student.

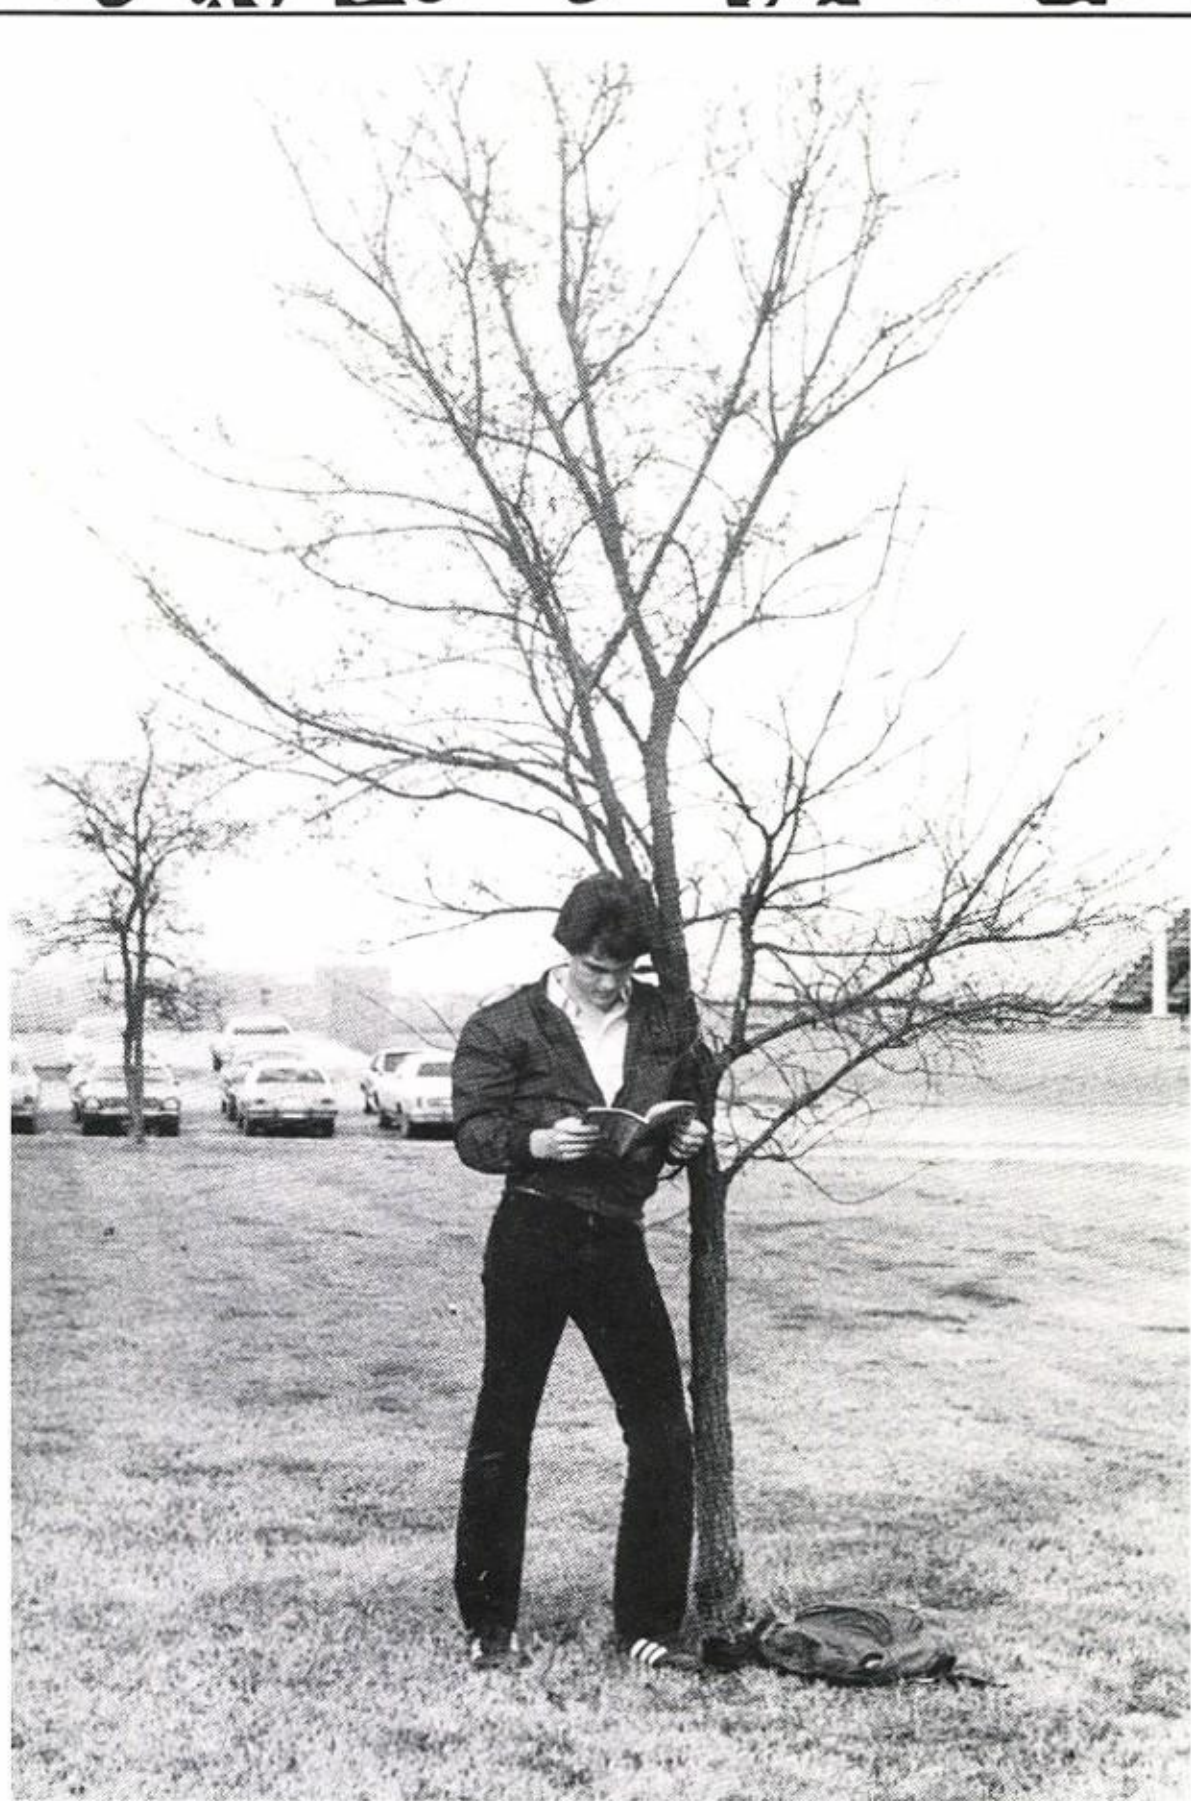

They called it Senioritis. Every Senior got it. Juniors wanted it. Sophomores questioned it. Freshmen had never heard of it.

Settling In

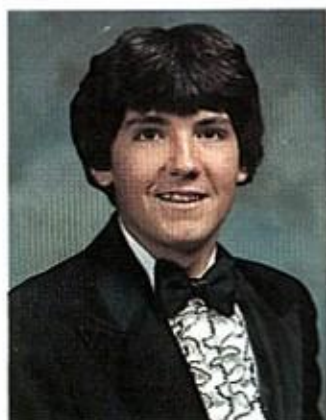

Where Do I Go From Here?

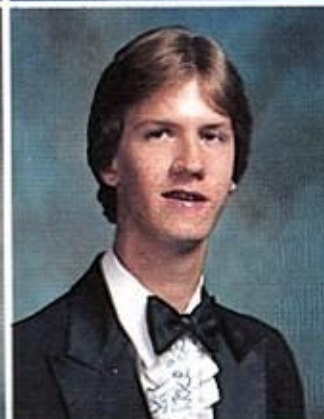

It's that time — Graduation. Everyone expects you to know where you want to go to college, whether you want to marry, what your career is going to be. I want to say, "Hey Mom, help!" She says that I have to learn to make my own decisions. Oh, no! I can't. I don't know what to do. I ask my friends. They want you to go with them wherever they go. But, they don't know either. I guess it is time to grow up. I hope I do the right thing.

JUNIORS SURVIVE ON LOW BUDGET

Raising money for a Prom is hard work and the Juniors realized exactly how hard, as they tried to raise $7,000 for the Jr.-Sr. Prom. In addition to selling magazines and Current stationery, they transformed an old house into a Haunted House. Unfortunately, all the hard work and time spent on the house hardly seemed worth it when the weather caused the house to close because of parking conditions. Even though it bombed, the Juniors had a great time struggling and scheming for money . . .

Sophomores Lead the Life of Riley

Becoming a Sophomore was much easier than becoming a Freshman because some of the peer pressure was lifted. The sophomores were in that "in-between year," but they realized that it was not that hard to be a member of W.H.S. The classes were a little bit harder, and the homework was piled on, but, to ease the pain, the Sophomores gathered on weekends to go to places such as Chilis and Pizza Ghatti.

Freshmen Adjust To Routine

Finding a place and identity in an established system is difficult, to say the least, but the Freshmen did not seem to be fazed by this undertaking. Most students caught on quickly to the rules and regulations. Many joined organizations and contributed greatly to the success of the projects.

Many times, in all of the extra-curricular activities, it seemed as though the real purpose of school got pushed by the wayside. Then, just at that moment, a teacher assigned a major test the day after the big basketball game, and it all came rushing back — learning came first. The Regional Championship trophy looked great in the trophy case, but so did all of those first place ribbons from the UIL literary meet. They both gave us a feeling of pride, the chance to show our school and individual style. Excelling in academics allowed us to display . . .

Readin', Writin', and 'Rithmetic Provide the Basics

It takes the basics to build a foundation and students at WHS had a variety of those basics to choose from in the area of required courses.

The English department consisted of four years devoted to developing and re-inforcing the necessary skills of reading, writing, vocabulary and grammar. With the introduction of learner based accountability (LBA), students and teachers were responsible for accomplishing pre-established goals.

Basic math, FOM, and the more advanced mathematics such as Trig. and Algebra were available to students so they could acquire life skills as well as establish a base for college courses.

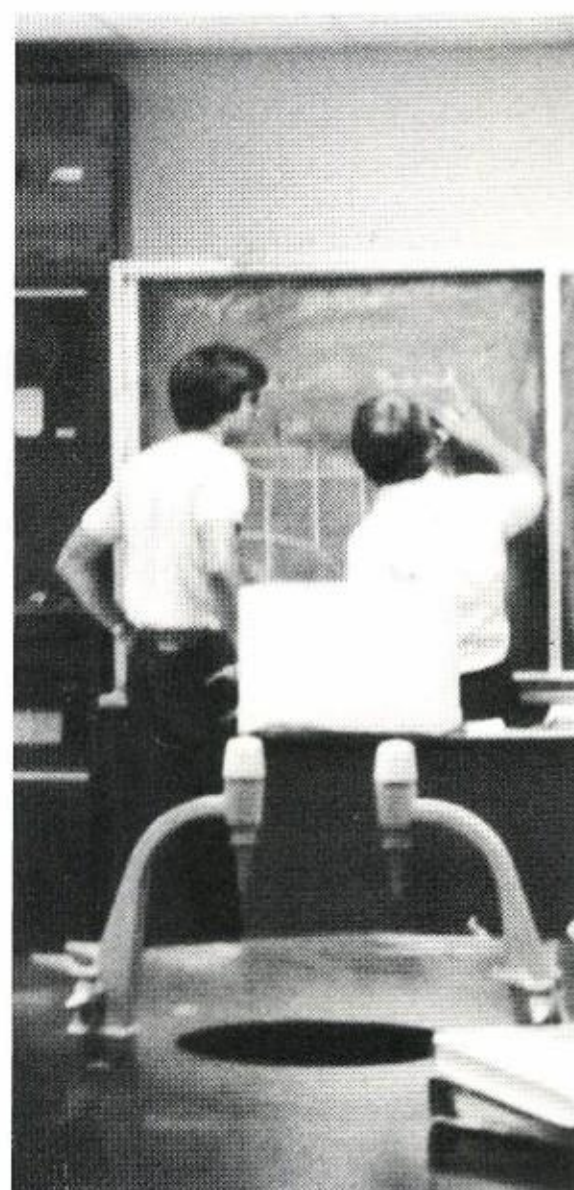

Snakes, terrible smells and, at times, screams of agony were not uncommon phenomena in the science department as students experimented or learned about the human body in Biology, Chemistry and Earth Science.

History and Civics on the local, national and world level broadened students horizons and took them on a journey through our past and, at time, into the future.

Having a healthful body was improtant to everyone and the Health and Physical Education department taught students how to develop healthy bodies and, then, how to keep them that way.

▲ Cindy Sheppard looked through the paper for one of those weekly current events.

▲ Bob Helmberger received help from Charles Samples, chemistry teacher.

Electives — Jacks of All Trades

If a student wanted to learn a foreign language, run a computer, or bake a cake, he could find a course to help him in the elective curriculum. The only problem was fitting those enlightening electives into the required schedule. One popular elective was Computer Math. Students were taught computer basics and given hands-on experience on the TRS-80. Foreign language offered students the opportunity to learn French or Spanish. They also sampled the culture and food of the countries.

Woodshop and drafting allowed students a chance to try their hands at building a project and ended up with most of the remodeling projects in the school. For students interested in cooking or fashion, the Home Economics department offered a variety of courses in foods and clothing. Journalism, in the form of newspaper and yearbook, taught students valuable writing and layout skills, as well as providing news for the student body.

Another new and exciting addition to the Art department was Photography. This course gave students first hand experience in the workings of a camera and developing pictures. Other artistic students made batiks, macramé projects, drawings, and calligraphy projects. The Fine Arts department allowed students the opportunity to participate in debate, plays, UIL literary events, and have interesting experiences as stage hands.

▲ Cutting out a pattern was not as easy as it looked as students in Home Ec soon found out.

▲ Tena Rogers prepared her macramé for Art class.

◀ Stewart Sheffield put the finishing touches on his project in Woodshop.

Julie Mueller worked on hanging for Art. ▼

Jeff Gillis and Blake Barry made signs for Spanish.

▲ Tony Berry prepared layout for yearbook.

▲ Mrs. Nancy Penny explained the intricacies of French to Terry Coker.

Vocational Courses Provide Skills for the Future

Developing real vocational competencies in various areas was the goal of students taking any of the various vocational courses.

On the job training was offered in the cooperative programs of VOE, DE, and HECE. In these programs the student attended school part of the day and worked the rest.

Agricultural students found they could learn the practical and technical side of agriculture by taking Ag. or Ag. mechanics, a course designed to teach students to weld and work on small engines.

Students interested in entering the business world could learn secretarial skills in Advanced Typing and Shorthand or enter the world of debits and credits in Accounting. Typing for personal or vocational use was taught in Typing I. For students interested in record keeping skills on both a personal and business level, record keeping filled the bill.

▲ Teresa Morgan found that you definitely need a ten key adding machine in Accounting I.

Jimmy Keathly practiced his "a", "a", "a." ►

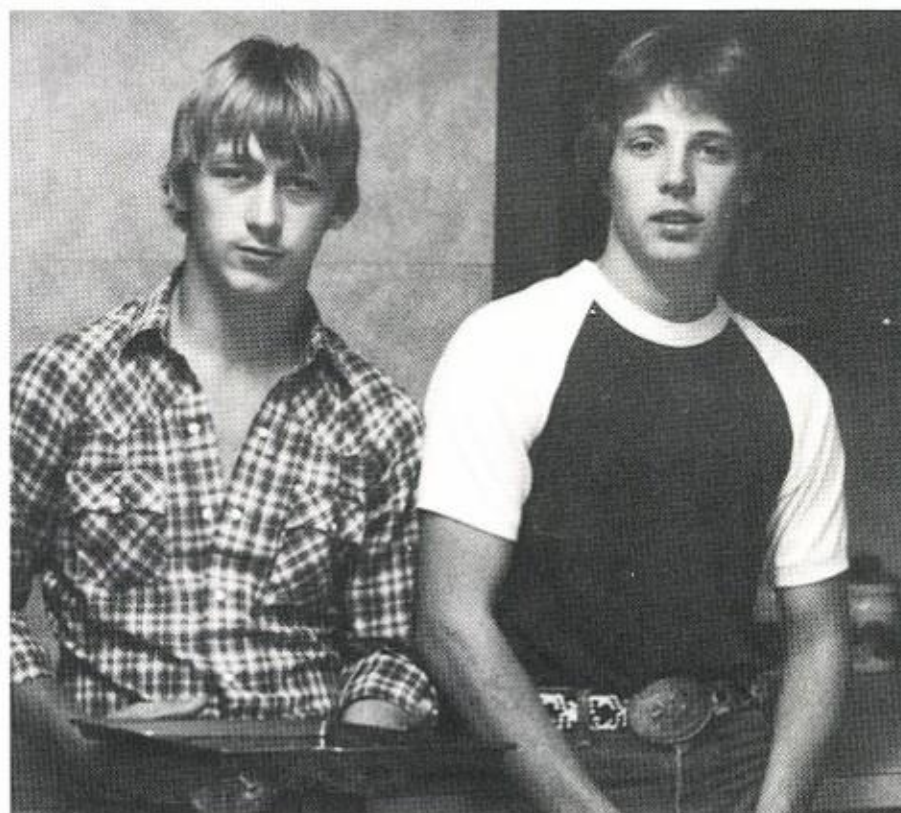

▲ Lori Lemons got valuable experience on the TSR80 in VOE.

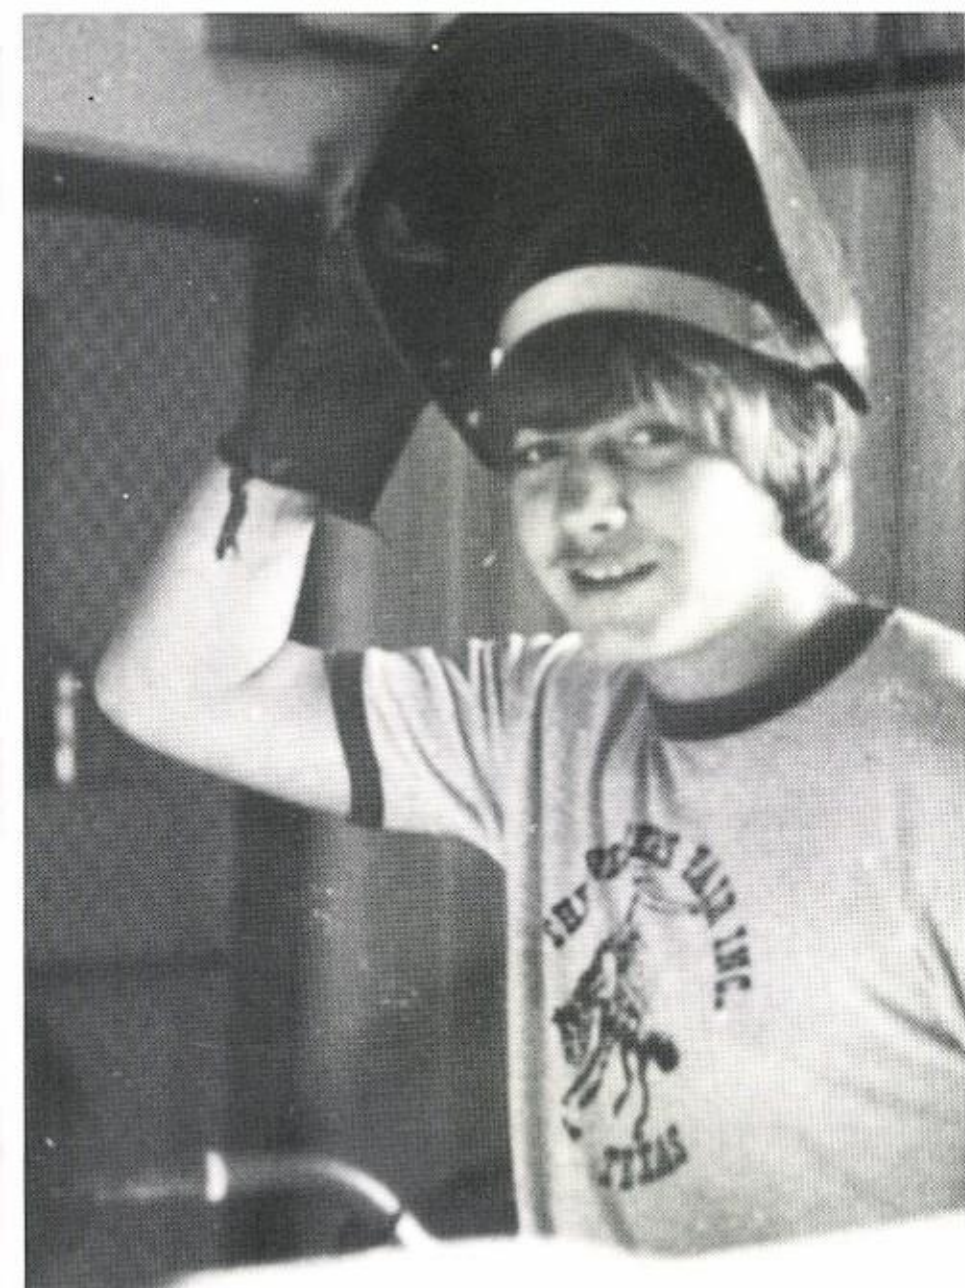

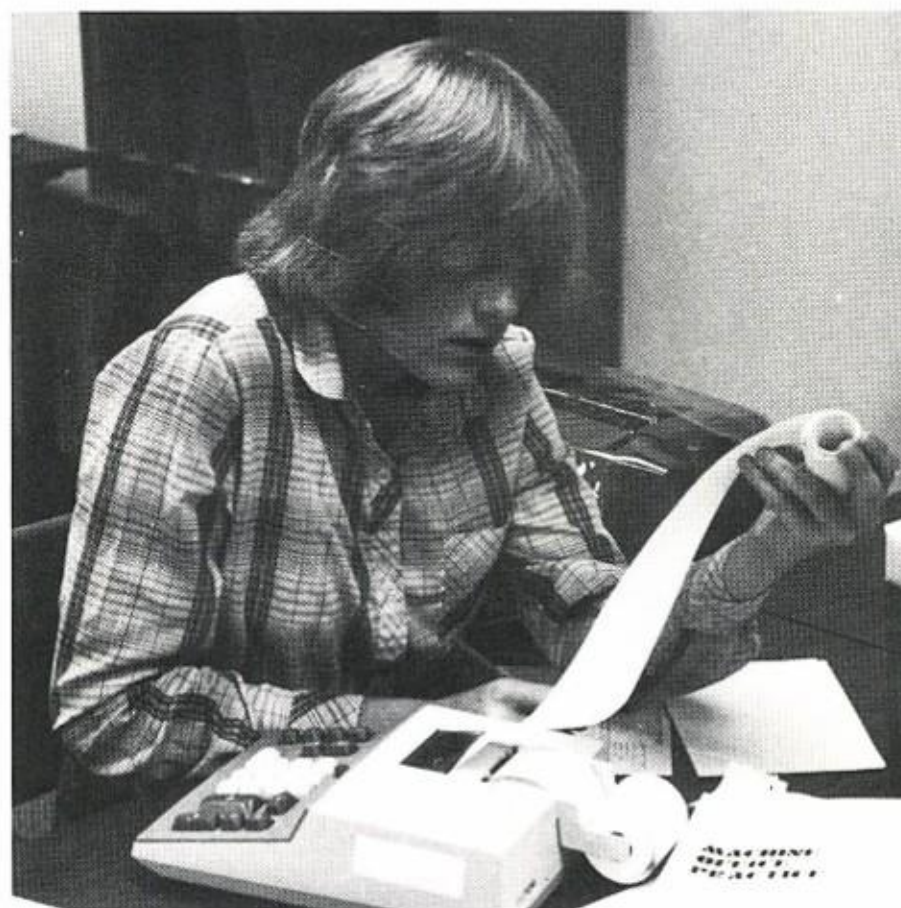

◀ Carrie Songer and Carol Ijames discussed the situation at the Wylie Stock show.

▲ Mark Cox and Mark Trammell participated in the HECE program.

▲ Les Hanson learned to weld in Ag. Mechanics.

▲ Mary Peterson checked her adding machine total in VOE.

Students Excel At UIL

Many times it appeared that academics were pushed to the bottom of the stack in school systems. Athletics and extra-curricular events over shadowed the very important part of our education. However, academics was a very important part of Wylie's educational system, and many hours were spent preparing for the Interscholastic League contest. Students who wanted to participate went to the sponsoring teacher who, in turn, gave them the information to study for the contest. All preparation was done outside of class and after school hours. It appeared that the hard work and effort were worth it because several students placed toward the top of list in their events and went on to compete on the Regional level. After placing third at Regional, Susan Young went on to State. Other Regional qualifiers were Frank Lawrence, Gloria Dossett, Beth Sweeney, Tricia Daniels, and Lori Draper.

▲ Tricia Daniels and Beth Sweeney placed high in shorthand. Beth went on to Regional.

▲ Lori Draper, Susan Young and Janice Oakes were the typists in the group. Lori and Susan went to Regional, and Susan advanced to sixth place at State.

Andy Key, Nikki Gowens and Richard Walden participated in Number Sense. ►

▲ Participating in the Speaking events were F. Row: Tracey Eavenson, DeeDee Winfrey, and Paul Combett. B. Row: Frank Lawrence, Gloria Dossett.

Brad Moss and Tom Blankenship competed in Calculator Applications.

The Glass Menagerie

A Trip to Austin for One-Act Cast and Crew

Long deserved recognition finally came to the speech and drama department as the One-Act play The Glass Menagerie, advanced to the state level. The play received critiques throughout the competition. The judges praised costumes, set, and the ability of the actors to work together.

In the long process of qualifying for state, cast members took honors at each level. Randy Martin and Jeff Prichard were named to the district all-star cast, and Gloria Dossett received honorable mention. Jeff Prichard was selected best actor at the area contest, while Randy Martin was named to the all-star cast and Sandra Crawford received honorable mention. At regional, Sandra Crawford was named best actress, Randy Martin and Gloria Dossett were named to the all-star cast, and Jeff Prichard received honorable mention.

Faculty Recognizes Outstanding Students

In keeping with the academic excellence stressed at school, the annual awards assembly was held to honor outstanding achievers in the various departments. Many teachers wanted to choose more than one, but administration held fast — only one could be chosen. The students were presented with medals and certificates by the department heads. Winners were: English — Sandra Crawford; Math — Mike Taylor; Science — Mary Helmberger; Social Studies — Kathy Howard; Business — Lori Lemons; Spanish — Paula Weger; Speech/Drama — Wendy Robinson; Art — Lori Helmberger and Julie Mueller; IA — Brian Chaney and Victor Barbosa; Chemistry — Scott Reuthinger and Mike Taylor; Home Ec. — Julie Mueller; HECE — DeLela White; VOE — Rhonda Justice; DE — Stan Gregory; Ag. — Greg West; Library — Donna Blackstock; Choir — Anna West and Travis Head; Band — Lenore Detarville; French — Mary Lyn Criscuolo; Journalism — Abby LeCocq; PE — Cassandra Monaghan and David Neely; Girls Athletics — Dee Dee Winfrey; Boys Athletics — Kyle Craighead; Yearbook — Sherry Browning; Health — Scott Reuthinger.

After the departmental awards were presented, Richard Landers, assistant principal, recognized Kathy Howard as Valedictorian and Brian Chaney as Salutatorian. Members of GLAD were presented with certificates for their community service. Finally, perfect attendance awards were presented. A special certificate was given to Kyle Craighead for twelve years perfect attendance. Marcus Spence and Kyle Shaffer were presented with special awards for achievements in art and music.

Crayons, playgrounds, and intermediate school books played a big part in a young persons life. For some, hot rods and bicycles were fun. For some, dolls and make-up were fun. These were the important years in which each child began to develop their own personality. Creating imaginary events and people were all a part of growing up . . .

Cheerleaders Spur Team To Victory

Creating enough spirit to help win those games came easy to the Middle School cheerleaders. After attending camp at East Texas State University, they were well armed with new cheers, chants, pyramids and buddy stunts. They used these ideas, plus many more, to spur the team to victory.

Backing up the cheerleaders was the Pep Squad. They helped put an extra bit of spirit into the yells. In addition, they added to the excitement of the games by performing pom-pom routines.

New type of division brings success to the Munchkins

A complete change was initiated by the new band director, Lynn Tinsley. The bands were divided into three divisions: Symphonic, Concert, and Beginner. The Symphonic Band is the more advanced band of the three. To qualify for the different bands, auditions were held. The most talented players were placed in the Symphonic Band. New rules and regulations were also initiated and emphasis was placed on learning both music and instrument.

The Symphonic Band participated in the UIL Concert and Sight Reading competition for the first time. All three bands competed in the Sandy Lake Fun Festival in Carrollton, and in a Solo and Ensemble contest at Wylie High School and Farmersville.

STUCO Provides Leadership

Getting involved with the students, providing services for students and school, and providing a few fun times for the student body was the purpose of the Student Council. The members tried to make sure every student felt comfortable and at home in the school setting. One way to accomplish this was to provide fun activities for the student body. To create a fun and exciting environment the STUCO held days such as 50's day and even a dance in the gym.

In addition to creating fun times for the school, the STUCO was involved in service projects. One of the worthy events performed by the group was adopting grandparents from the Hillcrest Manor Nursing Home. The grandparents were visited bi-weekly.

Special Activities Break Monotony

Everyone must have some play time, and the students at Hartman Elementary were no exception. Although it was threatened by rain, the annual track and field day was held in Pirate Stadium during May. Students had fun participating in the events and eating a picnic lunch. Every meet must have winners, and a winner from each grade level was chosen, as well as an overall winner.

Awards in Excellence

The desire for excellence and achievement begins early in life, and Hartman Elementary fostered that desire by awarding special and honor awards to deserving students. In annual awards assemblies, awards were given to: Citizenship and Readiness — Marc Parker, Angela Crow, Shawn Patterson, Kim Simmons, Carolyn Topolski, Kamber Yeager, Brian Wilson, Sean Denton, Daniell Cook, Becky Johnson, Sarah Stephens, Emily Turner, Jennifer White, Kenny Bramlett, Scott Sweeney; Citizenship Awards — David Fritz, Eric Gracy, Jamie Hansen, Justin Peschke, Johnny Pierce, Christy Cowser, Sharee Rawlings, Stacy Sneed, Tifni Taylor, Amy Combest, Robin Crawford, Denise Crawford, Joe Anderson, Matt Cook, Shane Kreymer, Cory McDonald; Honor Awards — Mike Graves, Candace Hartman, Mathew Little, Carrie Ann Reed, Shannon Steelman, Keith Wiley, Angela Kincaid, Stephen Harris, Tim Brandish, Julie Putnam, Laaurie Lewis, Melody Kelsey, Bobby Sims, Jeremy Daffin, Nikke Edney, Holly Gaskill, Timothy Hofer, Jennifer Shipley, Jill Warkentine, Ken Scanlan, Eric Carter, Amy Fassett, Ben Fulgham, Chris Tye, Kevin Zimmerman, Cathy Doyle, Kara Ford, Buffy Parker, Jocelyn Terry, Wendy Bolton, Jennifer Conkle, Kelly Glenn, Jason Mayfield, Beverly Prough, Janie Weaver, Melissa Wilson, Caroline Dickinson, Vicki Sanders, Kathy Cron, Sheree Eakin, Reagan Nunnally, Stacie Phillips, Kelly Beagle, Carrie Dougan, David Doyle, Mark Hamilton, Sarai Harris, Mindy Herrera, Julie Kauffman, Jenny Sue LeSchander, Tena Little, Dennis Maroni, Shain Robinson, Wendy Litton, Rachel Poetschke, Dorlinda Dill, Jennifer Howrey, Janice Weaver, Theresa Dunlop, Kellie Graf, Angie Dudley, Rhonda Lawrence, Chris Lykens, Evangelina Longoria, Kyle Locklear, Jason Bramlett, Tara Millis, Gina Shipley, Tom VanDevender, Angela Walker, Tandy Christman, Shannon Kelsey, Tasha Konicky, Bryan Lee, Jason Rawlings, Kelli Stewart, Amy Parker, Kelly Terry, Christa Anderson, Keith Braley, Roxanne Greer, Christy Lozano, Veromca Pitts, Kelly Simmons, Leslie Wilbanks, Michelle Alexander, Donna Dancer, Reese Harris, Gary Head, Ashley Herndon, Tressa Culterton, Matt Hamilton, Jody Bean, Valarie Dykes

Fourth grade prepares to move ahead.

The fourth grade was more involved in school affairs than ever before. They prepared to take a big responsibility in moving to middle school next fall. Classes seemed more advanced as the students learned about the library and began the science project of landscaping the school flower beds.

Third Graders Have Fun While They Learn . . .

The third graders had a very busy year. In addition to the three plays they put on, they were busy with learning multiplication and division and learning to write cursive. But on top of the busy learning schedule, they always could find time for a little fun . . .

◀ Going back to class after a half hour of coloring, Allen Cooper, Kevin Cranford, and Billy Moore stopped to pose boastfully for the photographer.

◀ Tonya Maphet. Competition between classmates and peers can sometimes become pressuring, especially physical competition. Tonya Maphet has been competing regularly for three years at Calico Kids, a tumbling training center.

Kathy Towler's outstanding quality is her ability to tumble. She has been tumbling for four years. In the North Texas Young Acrobatics meet, she won fourth place. ▶

THE RUNNING OF THE FLAG

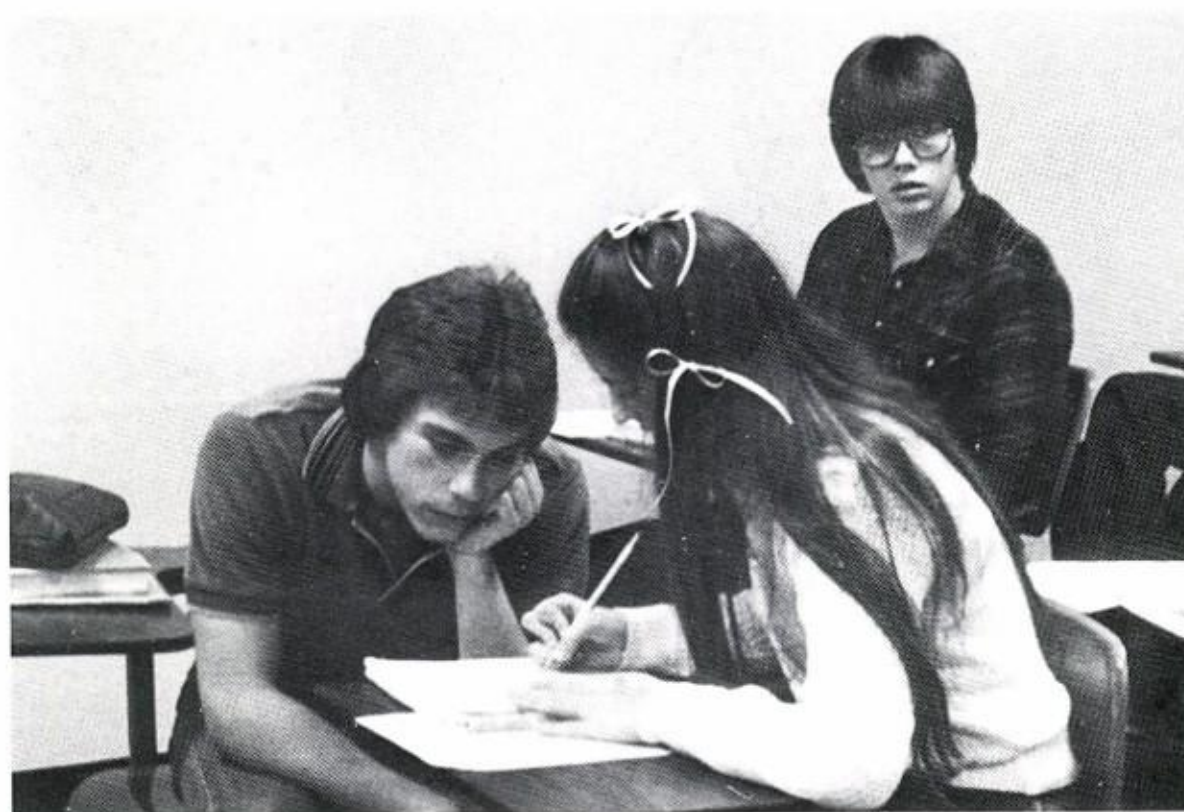

During each pep rally, several students ran around the gym, waving the PIRATE Flag, creating spirit. Kim Kling carried on the tradition this year. At times, she had the assistance of Greg Cryer.

We looked back and remembered the happy times, feeling the rewards of hard work and dedication. At other times we felt all alone, isolated in the midst of a crowd. Our existence was one of constant new beginnings and continuous endings that filled our lives and our memories. It was our year and our style, molded by the vast and diverse character of who we were and had become.

First to sign your annual (wow!)
I'm really not, but I hope you'll put me somewhere at the first when looking back at your bestest friends. I'm really so glad you moved to "Big V.A." - you're so much fun to be around. This year we're going to have so much fun!
Stay as pretty as you are and keep your super personality and you'll have no trouble having friends or boyfriends - and you'll be very successful in life. Remember God Loves You and so do I!

Tammy -

To a really neat person who despite all odds still has alot going for her. I'm glad we got to know each other through all the good & bad times. Tammy just remember in what ever situation your in keep the faith! I'm always thinking about you and of course praying for you. Tammy thanks for all of the fun times in the past and I'm looking forward to them in the future!! I love you just as anyone would love a sister.
You're always going to be my 6th sister, and I hope you consider me the same. Good luck in the future and everything you do! you can overcome - you will overcome!

Christ - you bet!!
Love ya,

tell! I know I haven't known you long, but that I don't mean I can't love you because I do. (Honest) I'm glad you moved to San Diego because you brought me my one of my dogs.
Please don't ever move! I'm sorry if you ever need me feel free to call, my number is 364-2570. Give life all you have and you'll be happy. Keep on smiling. I'm glad you must have a lot of mixed up feelings inside you now, but the answer to all our fears & disappointments is God. Love you,
Shirley

Good Bless
you!

Tammy,

again. I am so glad to see you every time. Nancy writes me so please write me some time!! I wanted to write you but I didn't know your address you but love ya alot

P.S. Keep up your faith!!!!
Dorinda

Tammy,

Is the greatest person I have ever known. You're funny, sweet, nice, and a great person to be around. Please don't ever change. And don't ever forget me. You're my bestest friend and I love you a lot. Keep in touch and may the Lord be with you always. If you ever need someone to talk to I'm here. I'm praying for you. Stay sweet + good luck always.

Love ya,

Take care!

Tammy
You a very nice and sweet friend. I had a lot of fun with you, and I can't wait for the future. I hope you make it thru the problems you're having. Good luck in the future and God Bless ya!
I love ya like a sister and so does Carla. Love ya
Carla

It has been such a joy and pleasure to know you over the past few years. Be good and keep your family happy and healthy. They are all getting old and need a lot of care.
Love you lots of love
from your family.

Tammy,
 I am really going to miss you around here. When I came you were real nice to me and we got to be friends and I hope we always stay friends.
 I hope you get to stay in

Tammy,
 I won't be happy without you. I think you know that. But I will be praying for you everyday. And I hope the best for ya. I hope the best for you + Mike. He is a very special friend to me + so are you!
 Please give me your address + I will write you. I promise. If ya can come up next summer, I will be willing to talk ya in. I hope school is good for ya. Good luck with all the guys in bunches. I won't you too know
 "I Love you" (bunches). Be careful + take care of your self. Everything will be okay. I promise.

Jammy,

To my very best friend.
Your very special to me. I think of you as a sister.
I love you very much, and care for you. If you need any help or a friend just call on me. May everything you wish come true. Good luck and we love you.

Love always,

Monica

Jammy,

Your really a special person to me and I'm so... so... sorry that your having to go through so much at your age.

We all miss you so... much and you know we love you, and if you ever need anything you can count on us.

I just want to let you know that I'm always here.

I know it's hard, but I'm sure that if you let God take care of it; it will work out for the best. I know that God has a purpose (every special purpose) for you

-Tammy-
It's hard to say sometimes what you really feel, but I hope I can tell you in three very short, but honest words - "I Love you!" W miss you so much here in Wylie. Remember my prayers are always with you.

always!

[illegible]

I am, you are so special to me. I can ~~not~~ off!
really relate to all you've been through, & I admire your ^{off} positive attitude.

I know God has a special plan for your life - + he wants you to have the best life possible

I'll always love you, Tam.

I'll hurt when you hurt. + cry when you cry. (But I hope there won't be too much more of that.) I'll always be here, just like all the rest of us in Wylie.

Call me collect any time!

hugs + stuff!

Love you!!!

And I know that was Jenni

↑ I know that you are going to be even more of a blessing to your new family and all those in your new than you were to us (if that's possible)
I Love you & miss you
God Bless you always Debbie Wintrey

Daddy,
you a really good friend. I just miss you but I know you moved with your family.
Let's always stay in touch, because you'll always be special to me. Good luck in all you do. I love you always like a sister ever need anything
Love ya,
Nadine

Daddy,
you a real sweet girl
and I sure do miss you hope you're around alot. Love Matt
P.S. if you can take care
yourself

Daddy,
you a real nice girl that I miss a lot. I wish you would come back. I'll try to Love

#1 sis U-Bet!
-Tammy-

To a really super sis, who I think the world of, and who I love very much. So remember if you ever need anything at all day or night. Please don't hesitate to give me a call.
Well I gotta be letting ya go, but before I do. I won't you to know that I'm never going to forget all the good times we had together, and I surely won't forget you. And I hope you won't forget me. Well
I'll be seeing ya.

Developing outstanding academic leaders and athletic competitors who participated and excelled in all levels of competition, helped establish a unique style among the students at WHS. It is a style of excellence, poise, independence, and caring and it was carried everywhere a WHS student went. It was a uniqueness which was felt by each person entering our building or observing us at various functions. We were noticed . . .

. . . because sometimes

STYLE is everything
